We, the class of 1957,
In this our graduation year
Hereby leave the Juniors of our beloved school

On our dear old high school days.
So, read on, dear friends, with no further ado
The gifts that we bequeath to you . . .

We, the class of '57, being of apparently sound mind and in possession of our faculties, perceiving our academic death to be at hand, pause in the midst of pressing activities to draw up our last will and testament. We do hereby appoint as executor of this document, the Class of '58.

Oh St. Marie

Marguerite Gamelin

Oh St. Marie! Oh school we love,
Be guided by His Almighty Hand above.
Provide our children with a basicly sound education,
Yet teach them to love Him with much admiration.
Warn them against evils and the pains of hell.
Oh St Marie! educate our children well.
Teach them courtesy, honesty, loyalty and love.
Keep their faith in the Almighty Father above.
Active minds need relaxation
To seek and find their true vocation.
Let them not resort to crime and vice.
Guide them safely onward with Your sound advice
So when out into the world they go,
We will be deeply gratified to know
They are capable of standing on their own two feet,
Thus being spared the agony of utter defeat.
Regardless of the endeavor they may choose
They will be aided by their learning at St. Marie's school.
Yes, reading, writing and arithmetic
Are important subjects, it's true,
Yet above all, teach them to be humble
And consider others in things that they do.
Teach them to pray to Our Savior
For help in their every day need.
Teach them to scorn being selfish -
With a life that is darkened by greed.
Oh St. Marie! Oh school we love
Be guided by His Almighty Hand above

Initiation

21 novembre, fête bénie, tu fais vibrer nos âmes . . .
Les fronts rayonnent, les coeurs battent à l'unisson, les voix modulent leur magnificat.

A la Présentation, gerbes spirituelles et odorantes redisent au nom de tous:
Respect, amour, gratitude.

Dans un décor hivernal, les éléments de la saison: hermine, lumière, carmin et givre s'unissent pour formuler leurs voeux. En termes délicats, Monseigneur Chartier exprime sa gratitude.

L'Ecole Secondaire Sainte-Marie a l'honneur d'accueillir Révérende Mère Sainte-Marie, provinciale d'Hudson, et trois de ses filles qui se rendront sous peu aux Philippines. Ces figures radieuses prêchent le don total. Quelle joie est plus digne d'admiration? Celle de la Mère généreuse ou des filles vaillantes?

C'est Noel!

Les solistes chantent:
Noel! Noel!
Anges qui chantez dans le ciel
Noel! Noel! Noel! Noel!

LE CHOEUR RÉPOND:
Venez, tout au long de nos routes
Porter la paix à ceux qui doutent.

MY SHADOW

I see it walk along the street,
Long, slim and dark before my feet,
It meets and mingles passing you,
And listless shadows we come to.

My shadow follows me all day,
At work, at rest, at school and play,
As the sun leaves the sky at night,
My shadow disappears from sight.

This brings to mind the thought of souls
Who at the Lord's will fade away,
Having attained their lifelong goals,
Join angels, in celestial play.

SEASONS

As spring arrives, the flowers bloom
And fill the air with sweet perfume.
Then summer comes with its warm sun
Which is just fine for good clean fun.
Then all at once, we find it's fall
The time for boys to play football.
And then with winter comes the snow,
The season children love, we know.

Irene Collins '58

ON THE SUNNYSIDE

There are days of sadness,
But then there follows light,
You often see madness,
But love is next in sight.

And one day there is pain
Next a disappointment,
But the sun follows rain
And that's life's sweet moment.

Every day of sorrow
Just makes our life more grand.
These days will only show
The art to understand.

Irene Riel '58

THE BLUES

Whenever you are feeling blue
And wish you had something to do
Then go back to your younger days
And you'll find many different ways
To pass the time away.

Perhaps you'll find your old stamp book
With all its dust and wornout look,
But pick it up and look inside
And soon you'll find your blues have died.

Priscille Désilets '57

A PLACE TO REST

I know a glen in yonder wood
Where tired souls repose.
And beauty there for years has stood
This is the place I chose.

When cares depress and overwhelm
My tired mind and will
I come to rest beneath the elm,
My soul with peace, to fill.

I think that God created these,
The sylvan hideaways,
That man may have in life's rough seas
His share of sheltered days.

Career Day

Father Mariano (Gagnon) captivates Saint Marie High Students with tales of missionary life in Peru.

The game that refreshes . . . during the orientation for future military life given by Everard Father Roland Veilleux.

Of our senior class memories, our trip to the Precious Blood Monastery will be the most cherished. That day presented us with a unique experience. To many the occasion marked a day of spiritual renewal. Young hearts were opened to the light of Divine Love and Providence. The amazed look upon our faces revealed our ignorance of the happiness that could exist in this house of reparation. Little had we realized that supernatural joy could be found to such a degree, in our modern war-torn world.

Class Prophecy

TIME: June 16, 1977.

PLACE: A conference room situated in the southeast wing of the SMHS Castle in Heaven.

OCCASION: Inventory Day.

CHARACTERS: Almighty God and the Guardian Angel of the Class of 1957.

GOD: Twenty years have elapsed since the memorable graduation day of the dignified and outstanding Class of 1957. It was your duty to watch over and protect the 54 students of that class. Now is the time for you to make your report.

ANGEL: Dearest Lord, I have recently returned from a tour of the Planet Earth and I am now able to present an account of the present status of my designated subjects.

I alighted on the front steps of St. Marie High School, the newly constructed atomic radar-controlled, termite-proof, one-room shack, designed by the scientifically-minded, "Miss Einsteinia", the former GERMAINE PELLERIN. She dedicated this masterpiece to Sister Wilhemina, P.M. (GERMAINE SPENARD), now acting Principal of SMHS. ELAINE HAMEL, a lay polyglot teacher of the school accompanied me to the Notre Dame Medical Center where I spied DORIS PAQUIN, newly-appointed head technician of the mentally-retarded "Tuti-Fruities" taking a blood count on Mrs. George Perron, the former LUCILLE CHALIFOUR, who is one of her regular patients.

Miss PHYLLIS LAPLANTE, the world renowned pediatrician assisted by SIMONE GAGNE, R.N., recipient of the N. H. Nurse of the Year Award, was in the next room busy inoculating some "over-excabooviated first-grader." She has discovered a serum capable of inducing children to think! (A feat never before performed.)

Miss Hamel (she's sweet), then introduced me to LILLIAN ALLARD who was rushing to meet a friend employed at the Telephone Company. She gave me a ride in her mint-green auto-plane and we scooted across Elmdale Avenue, to greet Miss CECILE MARTEL (still available, men!) who, with JEANNE GAGNE are presently Supervisors and "top brass" at the Bell Telephone Co. They informed me that Mrs. Roger Comiré (PAULINE MONDOR) had just called by wireless telephone to invite them to her suite at the Sheraton Plaza, NYC.

I slipped into Jeanne's suitcase and the next thing I knew, I was floating down Broadway, where my gaze caught the following theatre marquee: "A new musical, 'Queen City Notes', starring singer PAULINE ROBIDOUX, and dramatic star, JULIETTE GILBERT, introducing that new ballet star, PAULINE PLOURDE. Director—CONRAD GOURDE."

In the crowd of Times Square, I bumped into NORMAND HEBERT who was rushing to keep an appointment with MAURICE LACERTE, both in the aircraft business. After I regained my senses, I took a walk down 5th Avenue where I spied PAULINE SULLIVAN riding in Norm's 1977 Shrumaker convertible. In the back seat were three darling child prodigies! Also on 5th Ave., this shingle caught my eye: ELAINE CARBONNEAU—Dental Hygienist. I stopped to visit Elaine in her luxurious office. (I almost got lost in her plush carpets!)

After a few hectic days in the big city I was mighty tired and went for a stroll in Lincoln Park. I tuned in my new portable TV and heard two special news bulletins: PAUL MARTINEAU, world-known geoligist, today discovered a new dinosaur egg believed to be 300 million years old. ARTHUR "SPEED" BEAUDET has captured the 1977 Indianapolis Speedway's "500" trophy, setting a new record of 410 m.p.h. (Stick to four wheels, "Speed" . . .) After the interesting news broadcast, I watched Channel NUTT. ROBERT LEVASSEUR with his sweet voice is program director of the "Ladies' Gossip Hour". His special guests were PAULINE CROTEAU and RAYMOND TROTTIER, the country's foremost orators who each received a beautiful golden cup at the annual meeting of the Chitter-Chatter group.

I continued my promenade through the park and spotted a group of ladies talking over old times. They were SIMONNE LEFEBVRE, LUCILLE ST. CYR, RITA LACHANCE, and LUCILLE BOURNIVAL. They are all happily married, and their children attend the N. Y. Presentation of Mary Academy directed

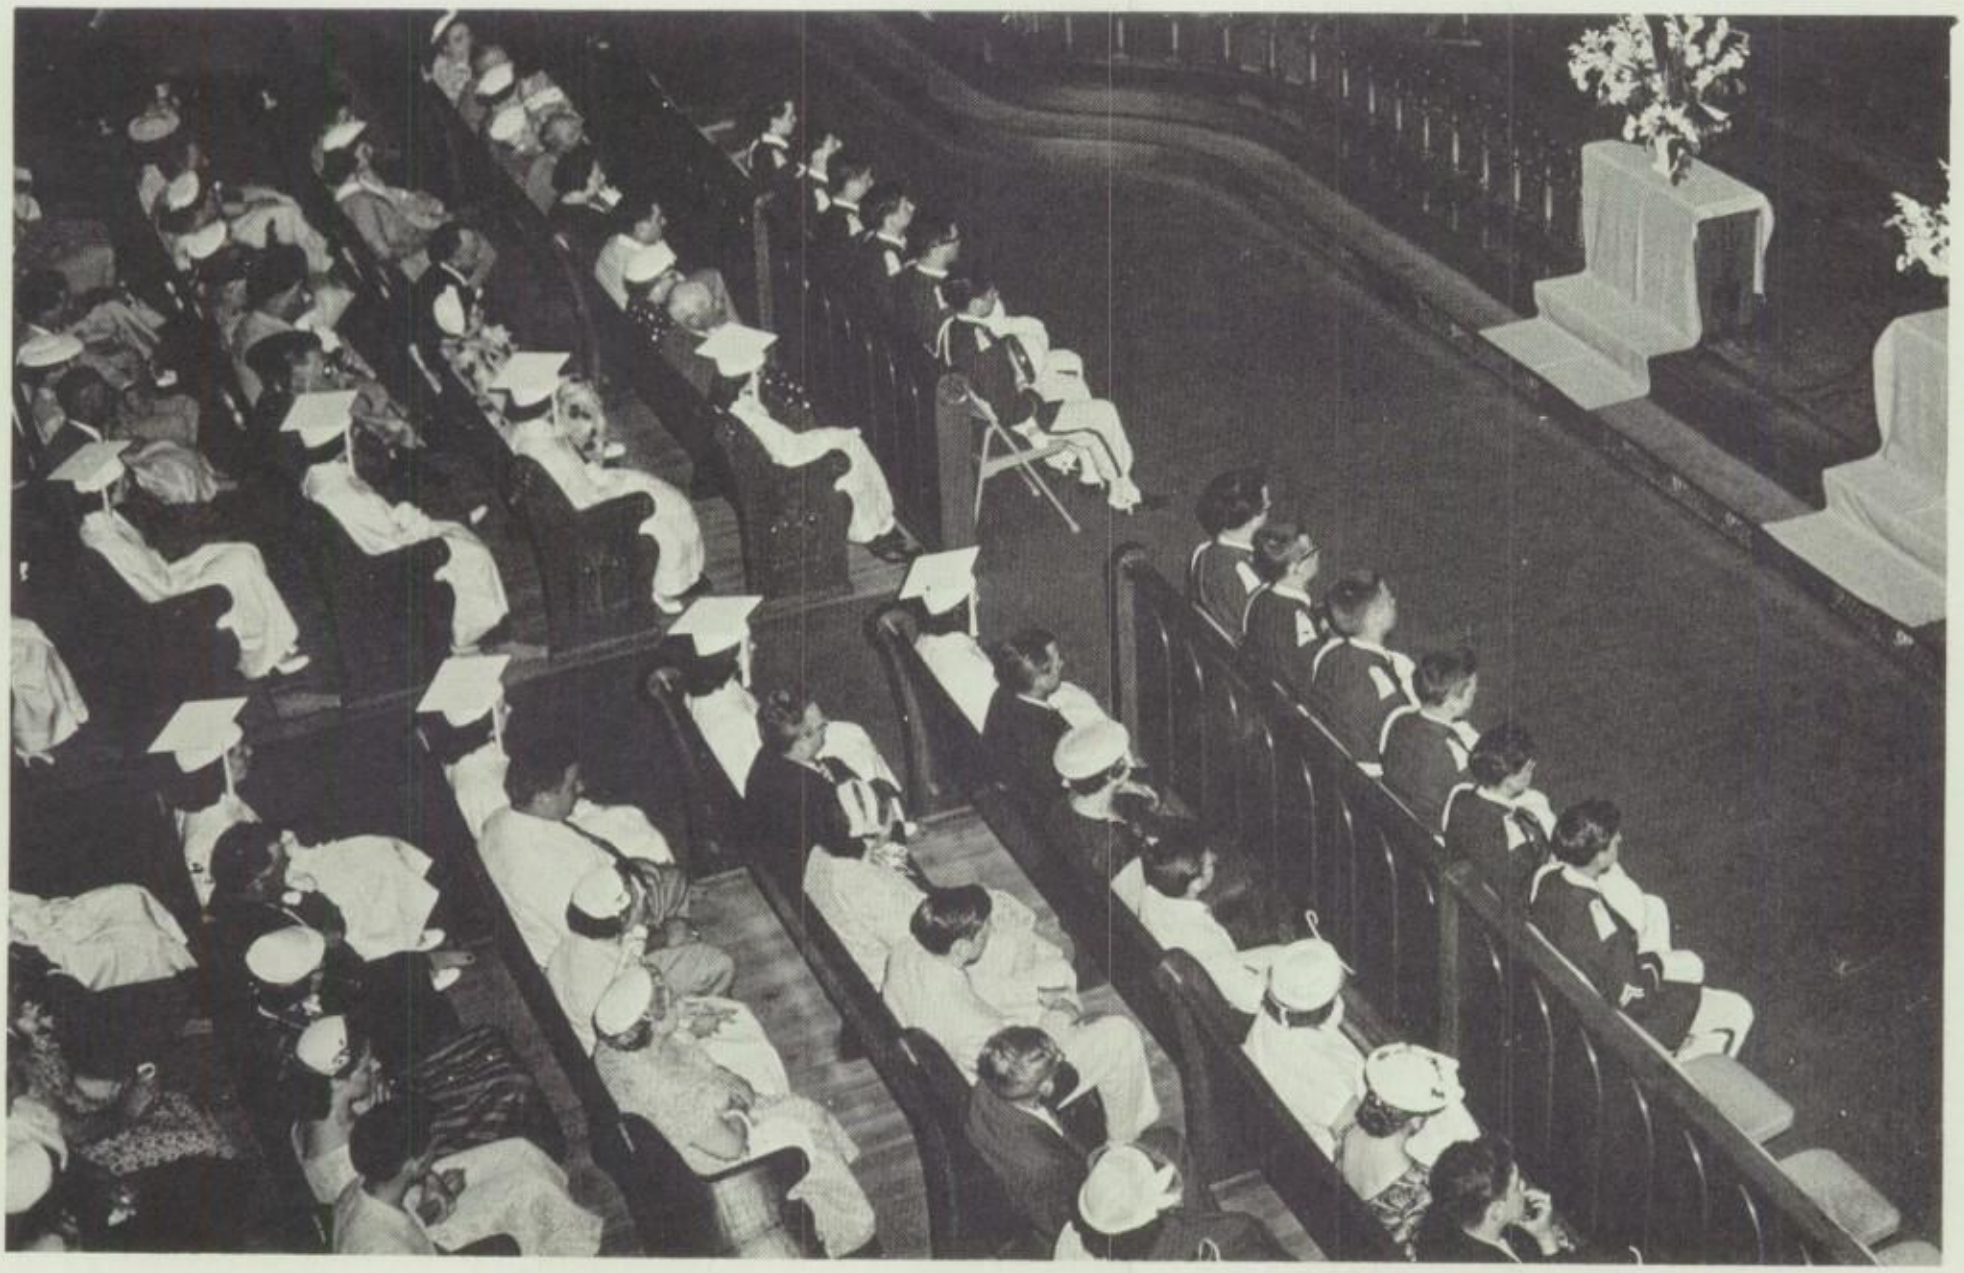
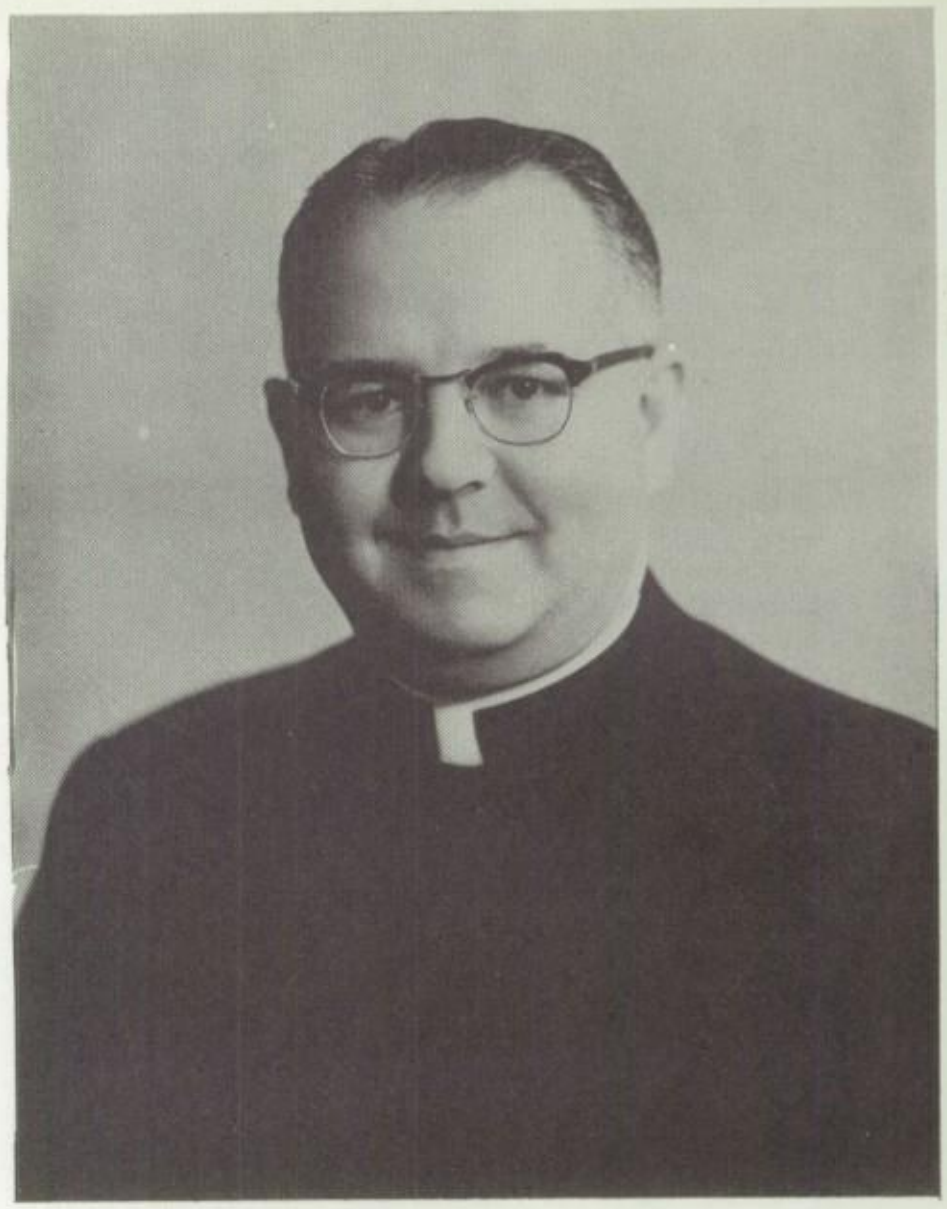
M. l'abbé Fernand Croteau célèbre sa première messe le jour de notre graduation.

Le Révérend Père Comtois, Directeur de notre Ecole, lit le Palmares qui réserve à plusieurs, des surprises et des joies.



"Souviens-toi donc de l'enseignement que tu as reçu et entendu. Tiens ferme ce que tu as, afin que personne ne ravisse ta couronne."

Apoc. III, 3 & 11



Monsieur l'Abbé Lucien Bissonnette
qui prononça le discours d'Adieu de la
Classe '57

Mes Chers Gradués,

Voilà donc terminées pour vous les quatre années du cours supérieur, durant lesquelles vous avez eu le bonheur de recevoir de vos excellentes maitresses non pas les leçons d'une science purement naturelle et fatalement stérile, mais les leçons d'une science toujours vivifiée par les principes de la religion, et qui constituent la parfaite éducation chrétienne telle qu'elle convient à des chrétiens. Et maintenant, ce soir, vous allez (d'aprés un usage qui commence, puisque ce n'est que la deuxième fois que ça se passe ainsi), recevoir aux pieds des autels la récompense méritée par votre application à profiter de ces leçons, la couronne qui a pu parfois avoir des épines, mais qui ce soir n'a que des roses.

Chers Diplomés, le jour de la graduation, c'est le jour où, ayant semé dans les larmes, vous récoltez dans la joie vos gerbes triomphales. Je viens de dire "ayant semé dans les larmes". C'est peut-être trop dire, car votre école paroissiale n'a certainement pas été une maison de larmes; au moins, je ne m'en suis jamais aperçu. Il est vrai que dans quinze ans de prêtrise c'est la première fois que je suis invité à revenir dans ma paroisse, mais pendant les années que j'ai fait du ministère à Nashua, à Rochester, ou à Concord, il m'est arrivé assez souvent de passer près de votre école, et chaque fois que j'ai vu arriver au milieu de vous un prêtre ou vos bonnes maitresses, toujours vous accouriez au-devant d'eux avec des visages joyeux. Mais, il faut bien l'admettre, vous n'étiez pas toujours vus et qui sait si de temps en temps une petite larme n'est pas tombée de vos yeux sur une leçon difficile à apprendre ou sur un devoir ardu? N'importe. Tout cela est passé. C'est le jour des couronnes joyeuses, des couronnes méritées, des couronnes qui ne laissent après elles ni chagrin ni souci; en un mot, c'est le jour des couronnes sans épines. Oui, je dis sans épines, et cela, Mesdemoiselles et Messieurs, précisément parce que durant le cours de quatre années, par votre application constante, par votre assiduité à l'étude, par votre résignation et votre patience pour en supporter les fatigues, vous avez pris soin d'enlever d'avance toutes les épines, si bien que la couronne seule est restée.

Bien chers Gradués, au retour des vacances, vous voyant en face de toute une année scolaire qui s'étendait devant vous avec ses incommensurables proportions et ses inextricables embarras, ces années scolaires, dis-je, vous apparaissaient comme un épais buisson d'épines. Mais regardant plus près, à travers ces épines, au fond du buisson vous distinguiez assez de feuillage et assez de fleurs pour tresser la couronne qui vous est donnée ce soir, c'est-à-dire, votre diplôme. Vous avez enlevé les épines une à une, soit en apprenant et en gravant dans votre mémoire une leçon difficile ou en corrigeant un petit défaut de caractère. Les années se sont succédées. Les épines ont été enlevées et la couronne seule demeure.

Mes chèrs Frères, ce que je viens de dire du temps de l'école s'applique parfaitement à la vie de chacun de nous. Notre vie à tous, quelle que soit la situation sociale où la Divine Providence nous ait placés, est un immense buisson d'épines, mais tous, avec les yeux de la foi, nous pouvons discerner au fond de ce buisson, qu'est la vie, une couronne immortelle. Ce qu'il nous importe avant tout, mes chers Gradués, c'est de nous méfier des couronnes fallacieuses du monde. Le monde qui a la passion des fleurs et l'horreur des épines, ne manque jamais de nous offrir à chacun des couronnes apparemment sans épines, et certainement un jour ou l'autre, vous en offrira à vous-mêmes. Méfiez-vous-en, Chers Enfants. Les épines qui se cachent sous les fleurs sont toujours les plus dangereuses. Les fleurs passent, mais le épine restent et nous laissent tout sanglants.

Chers Enfants, au lieu de vous laisser aveugler par le monde considérez plutôt Celui qui a voulu être notre divin Modèle. Lui y va franchement. Il nous présente d'abord une couronne d'épines en nous disant: "Sachez les supporter et vous les enleverez et un jour elles se changeront pour vous non pas en fleurs éphémères, mais en pierres précieuses et immortelles." Lui-même nous en a donné l'exemple.. Sur la croix il portait une couronne d'épines mais dans le ciel il porte un diadème de gloire. Faites comme lui, mes Chers Enfants. Acceptez les épines du monde et en les supportant, enlevez-les. Une passion à vaincre, un devoir sérieux à accomplir, un sacrifice que la conscience impose, en voilà des épines. Triomphez de cette passion, remplissez ce devoir, acceptez ce sacrifice que la conscience impose et ainsi vous ferez disparaitre les épines l'une apres l'autre. Je le sais, mes Chers Enfants, il faudra en arracher jusqu'au dernier moment, mais pourquoi nous plaindre si Dieu au dernier jour nous réserve une si belle couronne? Les souffrances de ce monde, nous dit St. Paul, ne sont pas dignes d'etre comparées à la gloire que Dieu révélera un jour en nous.

En somme, Chers Gradués, il n'y a que deux couronnes sans épines, c'est la vôtre et celle des Saints. La vôtre parce qu'elle est le prix de votre travail. Celle des Saints parce qu'elle est la récompense de la grande victoire remportée sur le monde par la foi. Vous avez mérité la première et au nom de mes Confrères, de vos Maitresses, de vos parents et amis, je vous en félicite. Maintenant ne négligez rien pour mériter la seconde. C'est ce que chaçun de nous espère maintenant de vous.

Ainsi-soit-il.
